What a blessed trip! ...still I am so glad to be home :)

It was a privilege to get to spend time with lots of you. I was so encouraged and refreshed! Thank you so much for your continued partnership in reaching Hungarian leaders with the truth and making multiplying disciples.

I seriously cannot state enough the honor it is to serve along side of you all. You are amazing! :) I am so thankful for such a faithful cloud of witnesses to partner with. I feel so loved, cared for, refreshed, and overall just 100% covered by your care spiritually, physically, and emotionally. Thank you for serving me and through me, the Hungarian nation so well! Your partnership truly is an honor :)

I am so happy to be back in Budapest, continuing in all the incredible opportunities that God has laid out for me to serve through. Our weekly prayer group for co-workers, bosses, and ourselves to be a light in our work communities is going so well. Please continue to pray along side of us in particular for the two men who are influential in politics. CBMC (Christian Business Men Connections) breakfasts are continuing, as well as my planning of the young professionals' conference for this coming spring. I also love getting to reconnect in person with my disciples and am enjoying having meaningful conversations face-to-face. My studying and preparation for life-coaching certification is continuing. I will finish an on-line course next week and have already applied for another one starting in February. Please pray for special wisdom in this area to chose courses that will train me well and also that will offer further opportunities of partnership and networking.

I cannot believe how fast time is flying by and that the holidays are already here! This picture gives you a little scene of what Budapest looks like right now :) It was taken at the tram stop outside of my condo. I love how the city is lit up with lights, even the tram is decked out! I pray that this season would be a very special time with family and a deep and meaningful season spiritually for you all as we celebrate the first coming of our Savior, as well as look ahead to His return.

Have a very blessed and merry Christmas!

Much love,

Jodi

* Praise God for the amazing time in the States and especially for providing me with 100% of the support that I need. I am so thankful that all of you are behind me and I feel privileged to have such a wonderful team of people that I am serving along side of. I thank God for you regularly in my prayers. May God bless you greatly for your faithfulness and your sacrifice in partnering to share the gospel to the Hungarian nation.
* I mentioned this prayer request to most of you that I got to personally talk with. Please continue to pray for wisdom and guidance and special discernment from God as I step into all these new situations where I will be surrounded by corruption and lies. Pray that I would know who to trust and that Matt. 10:16 would be true of me: "I am sending you out like sheep surrounded by wolves, so be wise as serpents and innocent as doves."
